Once upon a time there was a droplet named Droppington. He was born in the atmosphere. Then he rose up and up slowly forming into a cloud, and found other droplet friends! His friends weren't as excited as he as. He didn't know why! "Hi, I'm Dropington, nice to meet you!" All the other droplets were glum and tired looking. "I've been here for a year." said one "I've been here for a decade!" said another.

“Brrrrr! I’m freezing! Literally!” Said Dropington with surprise. As he got heavier and heavier he started to move down to Earth as snow! “Wheeeeeee!” Yelled Dropington “I’m falling!” As Dropington as he looked down he saw the ocean! Splat! He fell straight into he ocean. “Hey Dropington, what ya doing?” asked the turtle swimming by. “Well I don’t know” said Dropington back to him. Dropington he somehow found himself stuck in a palm tree’s root! All this traveling is fun, but home is better!
